Dear Rick,

May is here and we are glad business is strong for all Predator Games users! There is a ton of exciting news to report this month and the summer is looking to be even busier.

Predator Games was on hand at the National Collegiate Paintball Association's National tournament recently and showed off the Eagle Eye. A field in Wisconsin was featured in the news while another in Europe put together some killer laser tag videos. Be prepared to see Predator Games and irTactical at several events in June, too!

Don't forget, CCM 3.0 Beta testing begins soon. If you are interested in becoming a tester, send an email to social@predatorgames.com!

Predator Games at the Collegiate Nationals

Every year thousands of students head to the National Collegiate Paintball Association's (NCPA) National tournament. This year, the event was held in Lakeland, Florida, and drew dozens of universities and colleges including TCU, Airforce, Florida State, Tennessee, and more.

The Predator Games Eagle Eye system was on hand Friday afternoon for players and clubs to try out. There was much curiosity in the air and several games were played. Teams were interested in hearing how the system could benefit their program or school. The Eagle Eye would do so by allowing cheaper practice and easy fundraising, among other things.

The redesign of the CCM is coming along nicely. Your input has helped construct a very easy to use interface. The final version will be very stable and include several highly requested features. CCM 3.0 is scheduled to be released this summer and will be an easy upgrade. The layout of the program has been streamlined to make navigation easy and allow quick access to any item.

Beta testing will be taking place in the coming weeks. If your field or business is interested in becoming one of the first people to use the new software, you can sign up to be a Beta tester when the time comes. We have a limited number of Beta testing spots open, and several requirements must be met. Send us an email (social@predatorgames.com) if you are interested!

Commando Paintball In The News!

When a laser tag business is mentioned in a newspaper, we take notice! Commando Paintball, a past Featured Field, is once again making waves in the Green Bay, WI area. They were mentioned in a small newspaper segment highlighting their opening day. Read the article here!

Newspapers and other local media are a great way to promote your laser tag business. It's cheap, effective, and often you control the narrative. One laser tag business declared success by booking eight groups the day after running a laser tag ad in their paper.

Feature Field - Paintball Division (Spain)

Paintball Division in Spain has hit the bullseye when it comes to creating a dazzling laser tag experience! With smoke effects, laser beams, military bunkers, and more, their players never leave disappointed.

Paintball Division uses the Eagle Eye system for that loud bang the marker makes. To see more, check out their website! They have several videos to watch and gain ideas from. To contact them, email info@paintballdivision.com.
