Dear Rick,

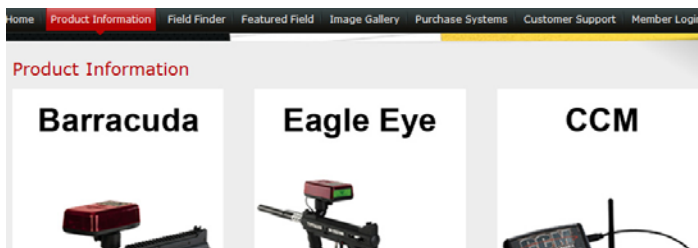

September brings with it the colorful fall season. Take advantage of the cooler weather and pretty scenery by playing paintball laser tag!

This month marks the completion of the Predator Games website renovation. The brand new .com is done and more informative than ever. Details for each new site are found below. Also exciting was the Eagle Eye being put to good use again recently and was even featured on TV! Plus, the Paintball Extravaganza is back and Predator will be there showing off each impressive product. And don't forget, our social media sites are great for getting info and meeting fellow Predator users.

The updated CCM and gun software is nearing completion. It will be released after being proved stable. The new updates fix several bugs and add in a few new features. Stay tuned!

The All-New www.PredatorGames.com

The brand new www.PredatorGames.com has been launched. The new site represents a giant step forward from the old site. You'll find a wealth of Predator information on this flagship web page.

The simplified, clean-cut look of the new page makes it really easy to navigate. Each Predator product is described in detail on the Product Information page. A complete list of features and benefits are listed. The popular Field Finder can also be found here to help players located a field near them. If you're looking for pictures, the image gallery shows a good mix of each product being used by a variety of players. When it's time to buy, simple sales instructions are listed. PredatorGames.com also connects you to www.PredatorGames.info if you need technical support, and www.PredatorGames.net for access to the world-wide player database and ranking system. All three sites follow the same layout, meaning navigation comes easy.

Paintball Laser Tag on TV!

Commando Paintball in Green Bay, WI recently demo'd a set of 10 Eagle Eyes for their first annual Family Fun Day. The Eagle Eyes were placed onto the rental fleet of Piranha paintball markers and given to the families and groups who attended. Non-stop games of 5-on-5 occurred from 7 am until 4:30 pm. The players did a variety of games including one with unlimited lives and ammo and others with 1 life and 100 ammo. They could play in the woods or on an inflatable field. Paintball players, families, young kids, groups, and more all came out to try the game. Smiles prevailed throughout the day.

The area news, Fox Channel 11, was on hand earlier in the day to showcase Commando Paintball and the activities that they offer. The paintball and laser tag were featured on Channel 11's Good Day Wisconsin show from 7-9 am. You can see some of the paintball laser tag action here! <http://tinyurl.com/29a9ncd>

Did You Know?

Predator Games and most laser tag guns emit an infrared beam of light when fired. Infrared beams are found on a portion of the electromagnetic spectrum between visible light and microwaves.

The gentlest form of infrared is the longer wavelength, found closer to visible light. This "soft" infrared is used in TV remotes. The human body can sense the more intense side of infrared, in the form of heat. Predator systems use a balanced portion of infrared light to deliver a strong, effective signal over a good distance while still staying safe and unnoticeable to humans.
